

Interagency Data Science Graduate Program – Applications opening soon!

Are you looking for an exciting opportunity after completing your degree? Are you ready to make a difference with data? Kick start your career in the Public Sector and join the Western Australian Government's data science graduate program.

Our 12 month program offers three rotations across agencies giving Graduates the opportunity to:

- Use data to help solve crime and keep the community safe (Western Australia Police Force)
- Analyse whole-of-government data to evaluate the holistic impact of programs and interventions (Department of the Premier and Cabinet)
- Use GIS skills to develop digital twins that will change how we design and plan cities (Department of Planning, Lands and Heritage)
- Produce powerful analytics to improve outcomes for children in care and people experiencing housing stress (Department of Communities)

There is potential for students to be offered a Permanent position after successful completion of the Graduate Program.
