Agenda

Reports

- President

- I can sleep through snoring
- Had more than a normal time, but a good time. This is optimal.
- Camp/10 would camp again.

- Vice-President

- He's still getting cigarettes in Singapore.

- Treasurer

- Could sleep through 30 minutes of the beep test but not Gavin snoring.
- Nobody complained about my cooking to my face
- Burnt self again

- Secretary

- Snores
- I have lanyard
- I love camp
- I think we need a clear official checklist prior to camp

- Everybody helped clean (mostly) and was willing to listen to delegation (mostly) unless they are Andre attempting to do dishes.
- Too many delegation memes we need new “creamy” camp memes.

- Librarian

- Confused screaming (literally)
- Camp went well
- People played games
- Fairly uneventful but definitely better than Hong Kong.

- Fresher Representative

- Four freshers came. They were great.
- Never make alliances with the greyjoys.
- Always be sporting and graceful.

- Ordinary Committee Member (OCM) 1: Alaura

- 13 hours of table tennis later... personal hygiene > victory
- I didn't pee for 26 hours
- Taught multiple card games about drugs (fyi; actual drugs are not okay)
- Prevented Emily, Gavin and Donald from Dungeons and Dragons but at least I can play 500 now.
- Good camp, would do camp again.

- OCM 2: Donald

- Spent 18 hours straight playing Magic
- Mopping is what the #Magic Community will do for Unigames
- Just Magic OCM Problems (MOP)
- Everyone enjoyed themselves when I talked to them
- I am happy (I thought he was Donald???)

- OCM 3: Tom

- Ran 8.5% of planned games
- Cooked and cleaned while serving alcohol for first time
- I am the worst House Stark Ever
- Learned Gavin motorcycles in his sleep
- Good Camp had fun

Feedback

Events

- LARP

- Moved from Saturday to Sunday; was fine
- Tom and Gavin scouted the outside fields before the LARP started to look for any dangerous moistness, was fine.
- Nobody got injured

- Necromancer and Om Nom are enjoyable; second game in small area that continuously encloses is good.
- Motherboard is...
 - a) Trash
 - b) Enjoyable but needs better balance
 - c) Nerds strategize too much
 - d) Chokepoints exploited, robots prevent you from moving
 - e) Was a bit too easy to get coal

- Quiz Nights

- Committees Table wins based on Scotch Footy getting lots of penalties
- Ed claims least memorable but others have dubbed Tom “Jordan”
- Quiz itself good questions
- However; issue was that it wasn’t clear when negative points were being given
- Callum confirms that the people who lost wanted to get their Tomb Raider prize
- You could actually hear music on music round - Donald has good speakers
- Table rounds as creative things are better; they were amazing
- Props to Lewis Price for his nightmarish drawings in table rounds

- Croft Draft

- Was as bad as expected
- Is the single worst game any of us have ever played
- Death to all waterfalls and red texts on silver holo-cards

- Primarchs

- Feedback is that it just stopped at one point; GMs disappeared
- Taylor recommends a specific Primarchs event
- People shouldn’t be able to die too easily
- Small Primarchs, not detracting from Camp makes it not fun
- Mabe early in Summer Holidays have a Primarchs Day

- Tom Handley DND Combat Simulator

- Will do at real Unigames after the game
- Finished 8.5% of premade games
- Went fine, even if didn’t fully go off.

- Cameron Locke’s Arts and Craft Corner

- Painting corner was great let’s do it again
- Bring Measuring Tape for Wargames next time - need to ensure that this is brought

Food

- First couple of days low food, but then got more food for the last day
- Food good quantity; contrasts with last year where both the Toms went hungry

> Ben and Taylor should write up a log of food for next year

- 100g per person of pasta?
- Someone complained they'd like more variety and less doubles of meals
- Brunches declared to be good emails
- 12 dozen eggs but that's a gross
- Ben needs to remember the vegetarians
- We forgot savory snacks (e.g. Cup Noodles)
- We're reliant on snack sales to break even; need to raise ticket price if we can't reach 55 people in future years.
- Kevin suggests snack voucher for camp so that people don't run out of money for snacks

Feedback to Managers

- Vacuums were broken
- Oven doesn't start consistently
- Hot plates hardly worked
- Nog as for BBQ
- Cistern broke during camp
- There was a leak in the roof, they came and fixed it in the rain; so that was good.
- Ran out of firewood

Incident Reports

- One incident report; Ben burns self again
- Burn count: Neck and Hand
- First aid well applied
- Could of always been worse

General Feedback

- Minimal issues night 1, later on no issues with the alcohol service RSA
- Nobody ever felt awkward asking people to play more games
- Alex: Just walk to table and ask to play
- Harry / Kevin - Agree all included
 - Harry - If anything too inclusive, somewhat bothered when I read
- Need inexperienced players friendly DnD as gateway to RPG on camp.
- Callum and Angus outside of the Magic Community: Still played and enjoyed Magic
- Cam Locke: Most fun for years for not running Primarchs

Meeting Closed: 11:01am
